

LOBBYISTS AT ALBANY EXPECT BUSY SESSION

"More Strikes and Reforms;
More Need for Us," Said
One Member.

ANTI-SALOON MEN BUSY.

Passage of Wagner's Five-Cent-Fare Bill Seems to Be Assured Now.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—The lobby gentlemen who do business in the lobby were cheered up yesterday by the prospects of a good session. To quote a leading representative of the third house, "The more strikes and reforms, the more need for us." Railroad bills took the lead in the lobby line, the Five-Cent Conveyance Fare bill coming in with a blare of trumpets. The lobby got down to business by sizing up the new members and trying to form an estimate of their susceptibilities.

"A pretty clean lot on the surface," remarked one gentleman of the lobby, "but then you can never tell what's under the ash."

Assemblyman Wagner Popular.
Assemblyman Wagner, who offered the Five-Cent Fare bill in the Lower House, is one of its most popular members, and the resources of the lobby will probably be saved for the final fight in the Senate.

The conversion of Senators McManus and McCall to the five-cent cause makes the chances for its success more favorable than they were last year, when the Senate voted to keep the bill in committee.

The anti-saloon cohorts are here with a bizarre programme, ranging from total prohibition to local option. They are somewhat split up. One faction, which believes in playing the game to the full limit, is urging legislation to close up every saloon in the State. The Anti-Saloon League is backing its old prohibition of allowing the cities to vote on the question of no license.

The trust companies are preparing to wage bitter war on some of the recommendations made by the governor and his energetic supporter of banks, Clark Williams. They are especially opposed to the idea of making them keep a larger reserve on hand. The campaign of the trust companies will be organized and as effective as money can make it.

The Gold Cure Suggested for Grip to Assemblymen.

"This is grippy weather," complained an up-State Assemblyman to-day. "Well, weren't you looking for the gold? I've always got the grip," said his companion.

Artemas Ward, Jr., Tells How He Got His Name.

Artemas Ward, Jr., is one of the new Republican members from Manhattan. He represents the 10th district. He is a tall, refined-looking, clean-cut representative of a worthy successor to "Ed" Prentice. Mr. Ward is no relation to Artemus, the jester, and not quitted the name by descent, and not quitted the name by descent, and not quitted the name by descent. He explained to a bunch of statesmen in the Ten Eyck today, Mr. Ward traces his ancestry back to the Harvard men in the Assembly. Yale has two "grads" there, but what Yale graduates numerically it makes up in quality. The two Yale men are Speaker Woodworth and Assemblyman Merritt, the new majority leader.

STABBED IN STREET FIGHT.

David Koch, twenty years old, a farmer, of No. 263 Broome street, was found in front of No. 263 East Houston street early to-day with a slight cut on the left side of his neck and taken to Bellevue Hospital. The police say he was wounded in a fight, and have detained as witnesses Michael Polinsky and Leon Wallonsky, who live at the East Houston street address.

STRANGER CALLS HOST FROM PARTY AND STABS HIM

Schmidt Didn't Know Man for Whom Caller Asked—Is Dying in Bellevue.

Charles Schmidt, twenty-eight years old, a truck driver, of No. 625 East Fourteenth street, is dying in Bellevue Hospital from two stab wounds in the abdomen received early to-day at the hands of an unknown assassin in the dark hallway outside of Schmidt's room on the third floor.

Schmidt invited a number of friends to a New Year's jollification last night, and the convivial crowd lingered long. Among the guests was James Shields, who some time after midnight was sent for one last round of beer.

Soon after Shields left with his bucket a stranger rapped on the door and asked for a person whose name was unfamiliar. Schmidt, who went to the door, told him that no such person lived there. The stranger tolled up to the fourth floor, created quite a commotion, and as he came down Schmidt, who was still in the hallway, suspicious of the unknown man's actions, said: "I thought I told you no such person lived in this house?"

Instead of replying, the man plunged a knife twice into Schmidt's stomach and left him writhing on the floor. The merry-makers inside did not hear anything, and Schmidt was not found until Shields returned. He was assisted into the room and thought he would be able to walk to Bellevue, with Shields, but fell unconscious at Avenue A and Fourteenth street, and an ambulance was called.

Schmidt told Policeman John J. Grady, of the Fifth street station, before he was operated on at the hospital, that he could not describe his assailant, as the hallway was dark, and he did not get a good look at him.

How Tuberculosis is Cured:

Here is a Patient's Own Story of How He Was Cured.

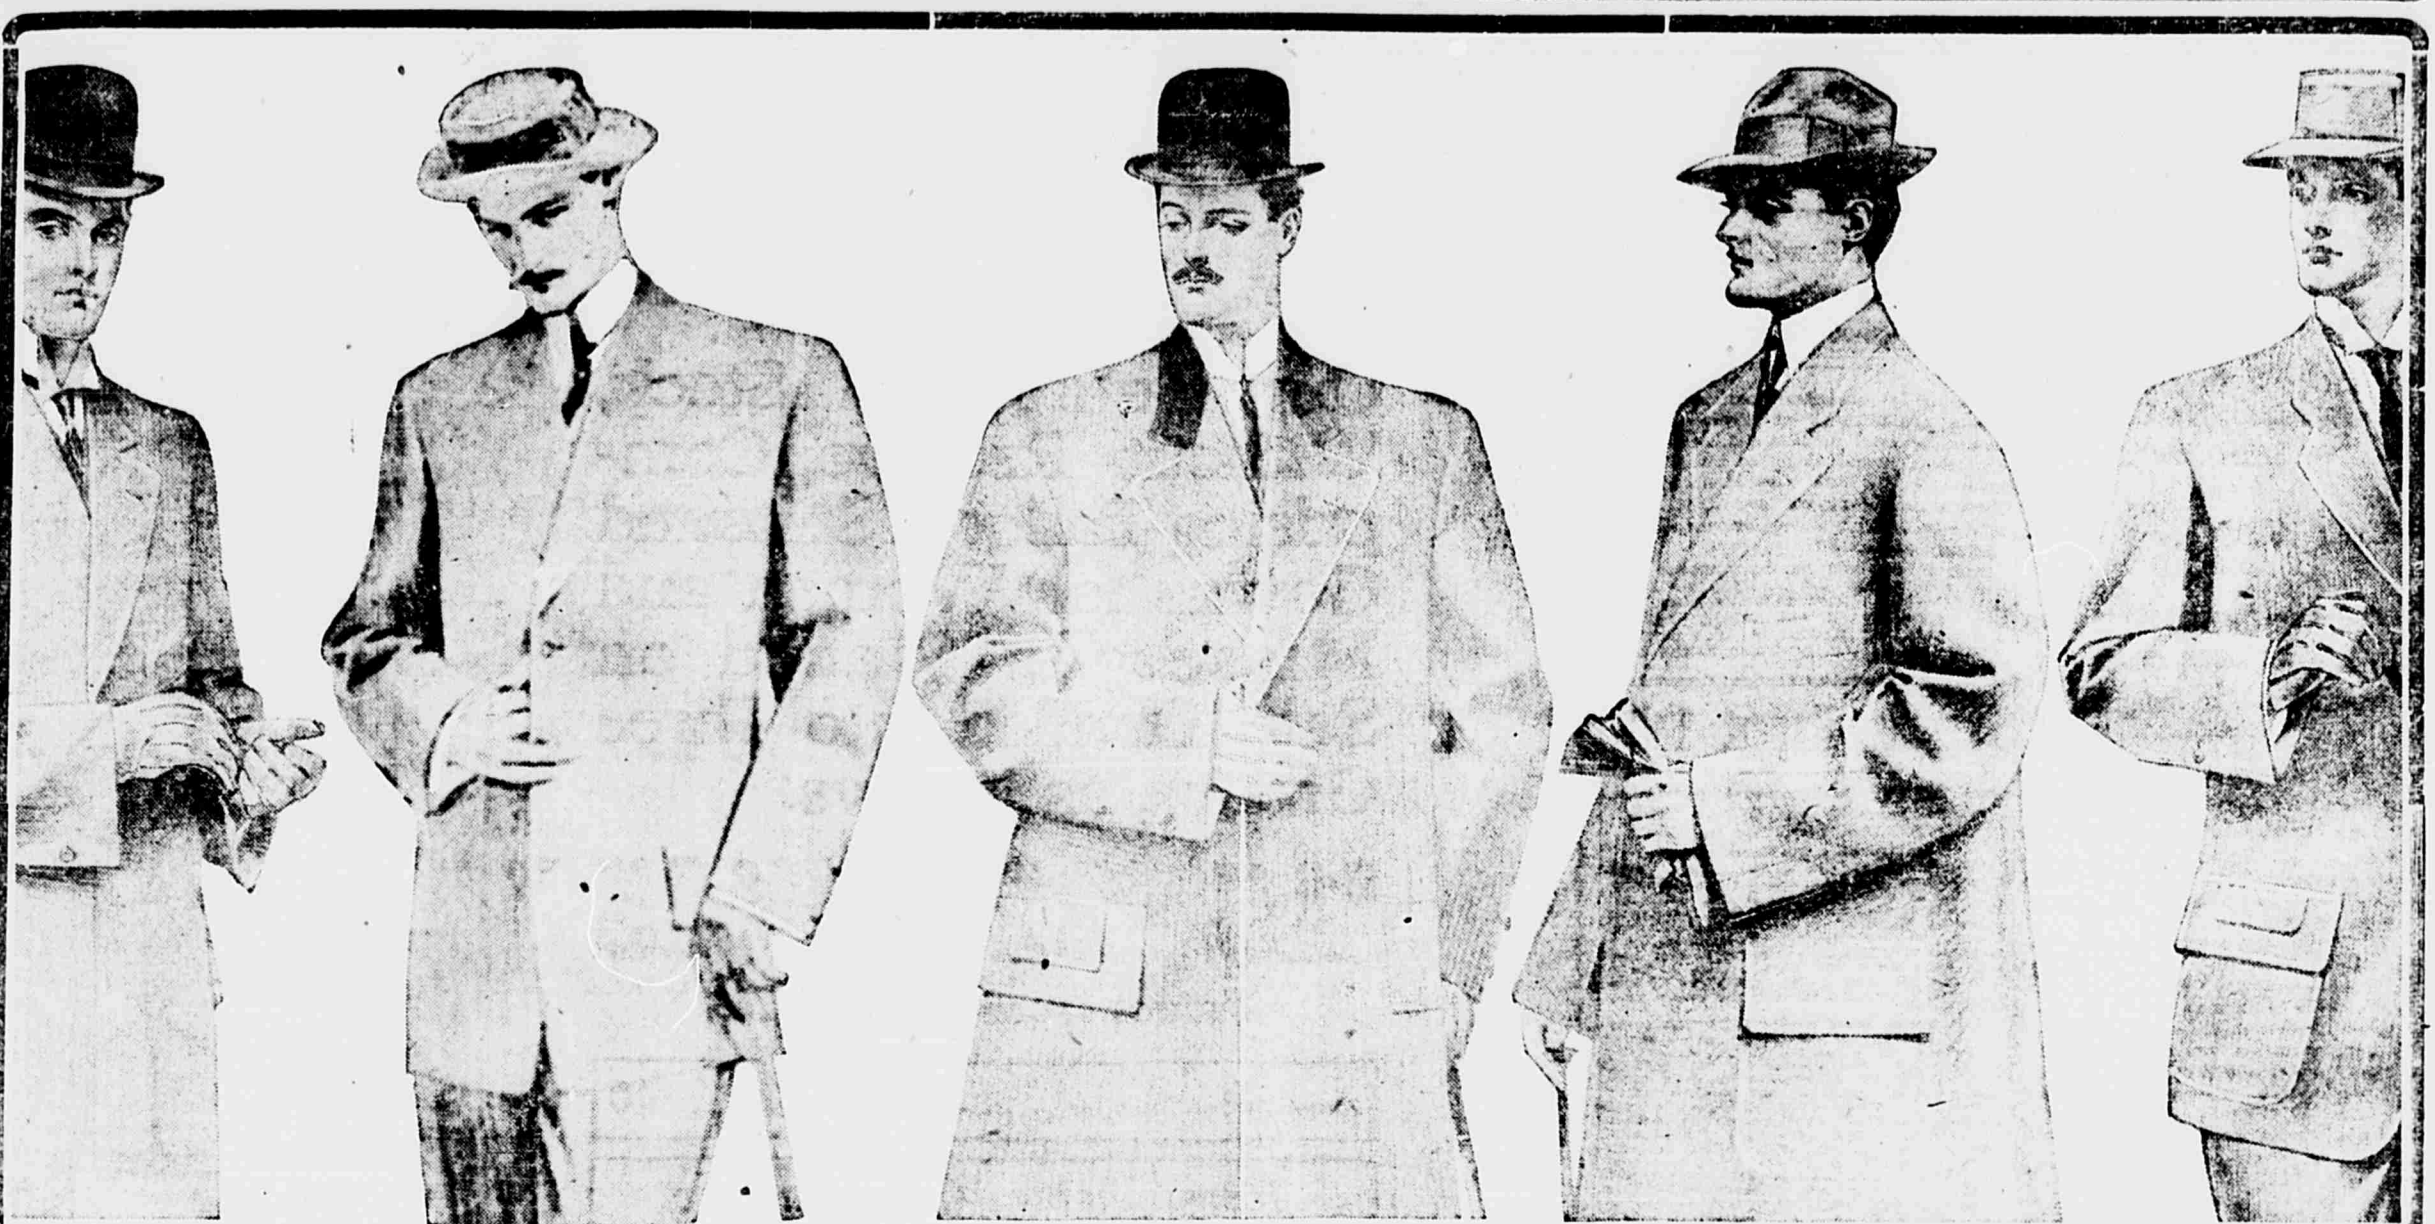

"No person ever had tuberculosis of the lungs worse than I and lived to tell of a complete recovery. My former doctors acknowledged that the cure is genuine and lasting. After being given up to die by three New York doctors, I went to Dr. Anderson, who examined my lungs with his X-ray and found them to be in an advanced and dangerous state of tuberculosis. I had coughed up a pint of blood at a time, and often coughed up bloody mucus. The night sweats were so bad I had to change my bedclothes during the night. Chills were so severe I felt as though I could never live through another day. A burning fever would follow. The cough was continuous all day and kept me awake at night. I was so reduced in flesh and strength that I could not walk a block without stopping to get my breath."

"I had given up all hopes of ever being cured. I knew that taking medicine into my stomach had not benefited my lungs or checked the disease, or even relieved my dreadful symptoms, and I was growing worse every day, so I decided to try Dr. Anderson's Geriatric Inhalation Vapor treatment as a last resort."

"I began his treatment, and breathed the soothing, medicated, oily vapors into my lungs. It immediately relieved my cough. A month's treatment helped me greatly, and after two months' time I gained very rapidly. My night sweats, chills and fever stopped."

"My cough grew less and less, and I had no more hemorrhages. My appetite returned, and I gained in flesh and strength. After the second month I started back to my work, and have worked every day since, and this is published at my own request."

(Name furnished if desired for reference.)
Dr. Anderson gives a personal consultation and examination without charge at his office, 50 West 22d St., New York, between 10th and 11th aves. Hours—10 to 4 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday evening 7 to 9 o'clock, Sundays 11 to 2. If unable to call, write for particulars.

The most gentle of Nature's laxatives put into candy form. That's Cascarets. Made to be taken in dainty doses, when you don't feel at your best.

A cure for the blues—for the grouch—for bad temper—Cascarets.

For the cause of most of these troubles lies in the bowels. A Cascaret tonight means a cheery day tomorrow. Six bright days for ten cents. Are they worth it?

Don't think of Cascarets as a physic. They are candy tablets, as good as they are gentle.

Their effect is the same as the effect of some foods. They stimulate the bowels to natural action.

Those who have learned what is best carry a box in the pocket. They take one as soon as they need it.

Don't have a bowel wash-day. Don't take physics in large doses and rarely.

You wash your face at the first sign of uncleanness. Why not be as clean with your bowels?

You know by the symptoms when your bowels need help. One Cascaret right then puts a stop to them.

You can just as well avoid these little ills—just as well keep at your best.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure you get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50c, 25c and
